

Git Tutorial

Commit a file

Select your PC environment:

Windows

Mac

Command Line

In the tutorial directory that we have created earlier, we are going to add a new file and have it registered under the repository.

Create a file named "sample.txt" in that directory with the following text content.

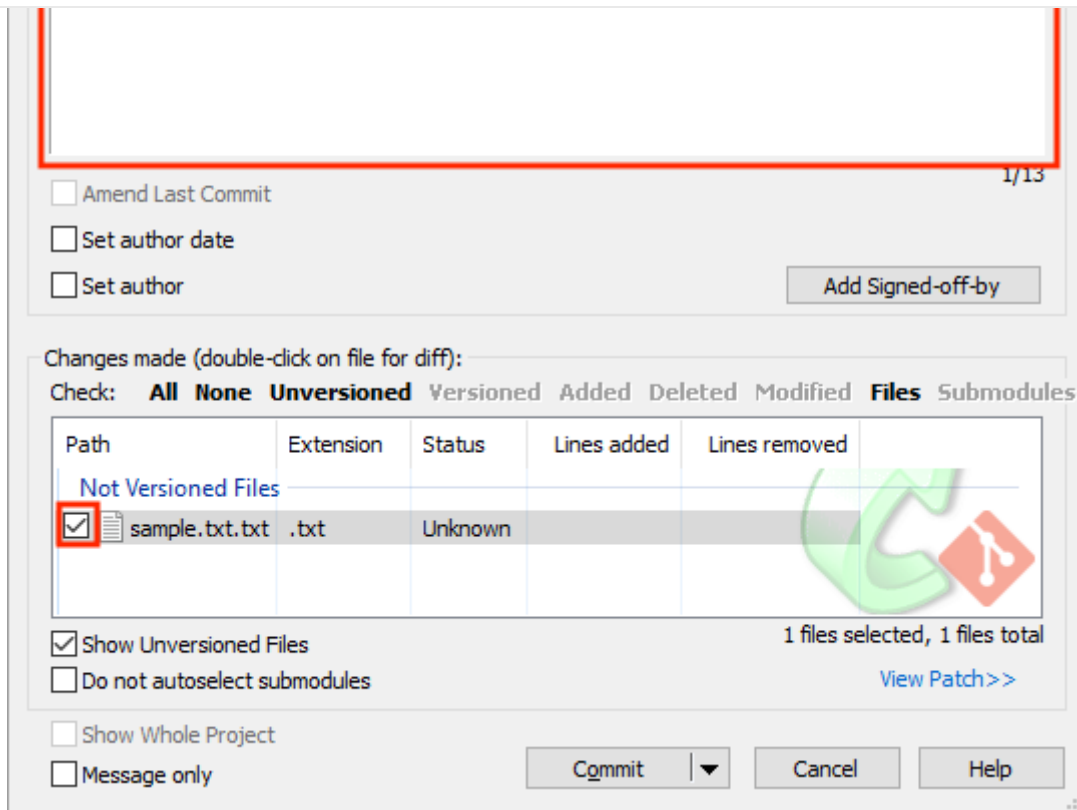

```
Git commands even a monkey can understand

Windows

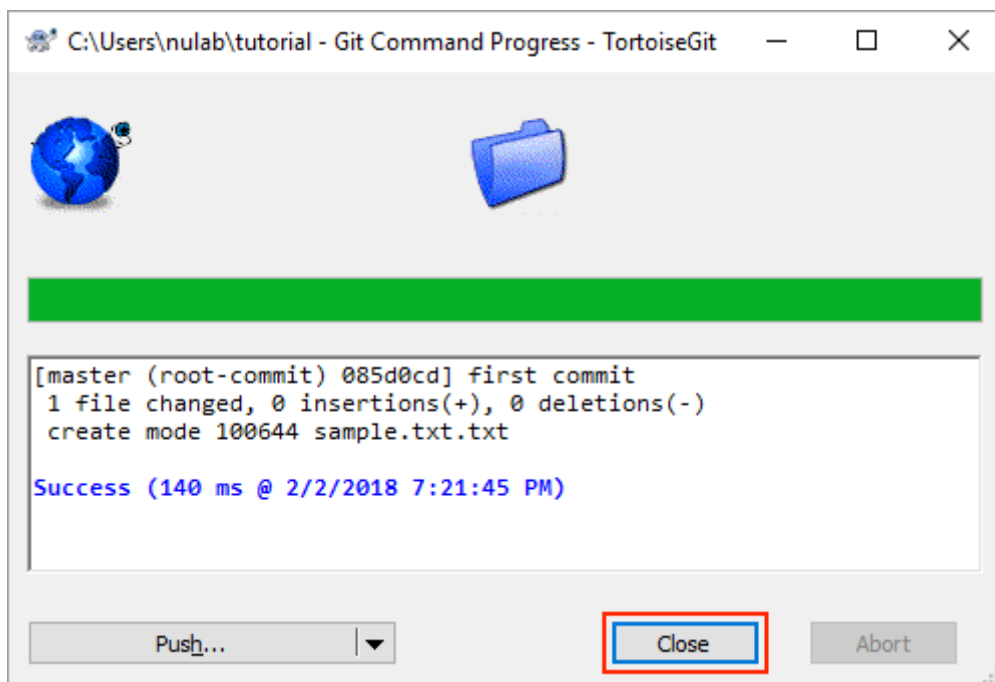

Open the tutorial directory and right-click on an empty space to open the right-click menu. Then, click "Git Commit" from the right-click menu.

The following screen will be displayed. Make sure the sample.txt from "Changes made" is checked. Now enter a commit message in the message box and click "OK".

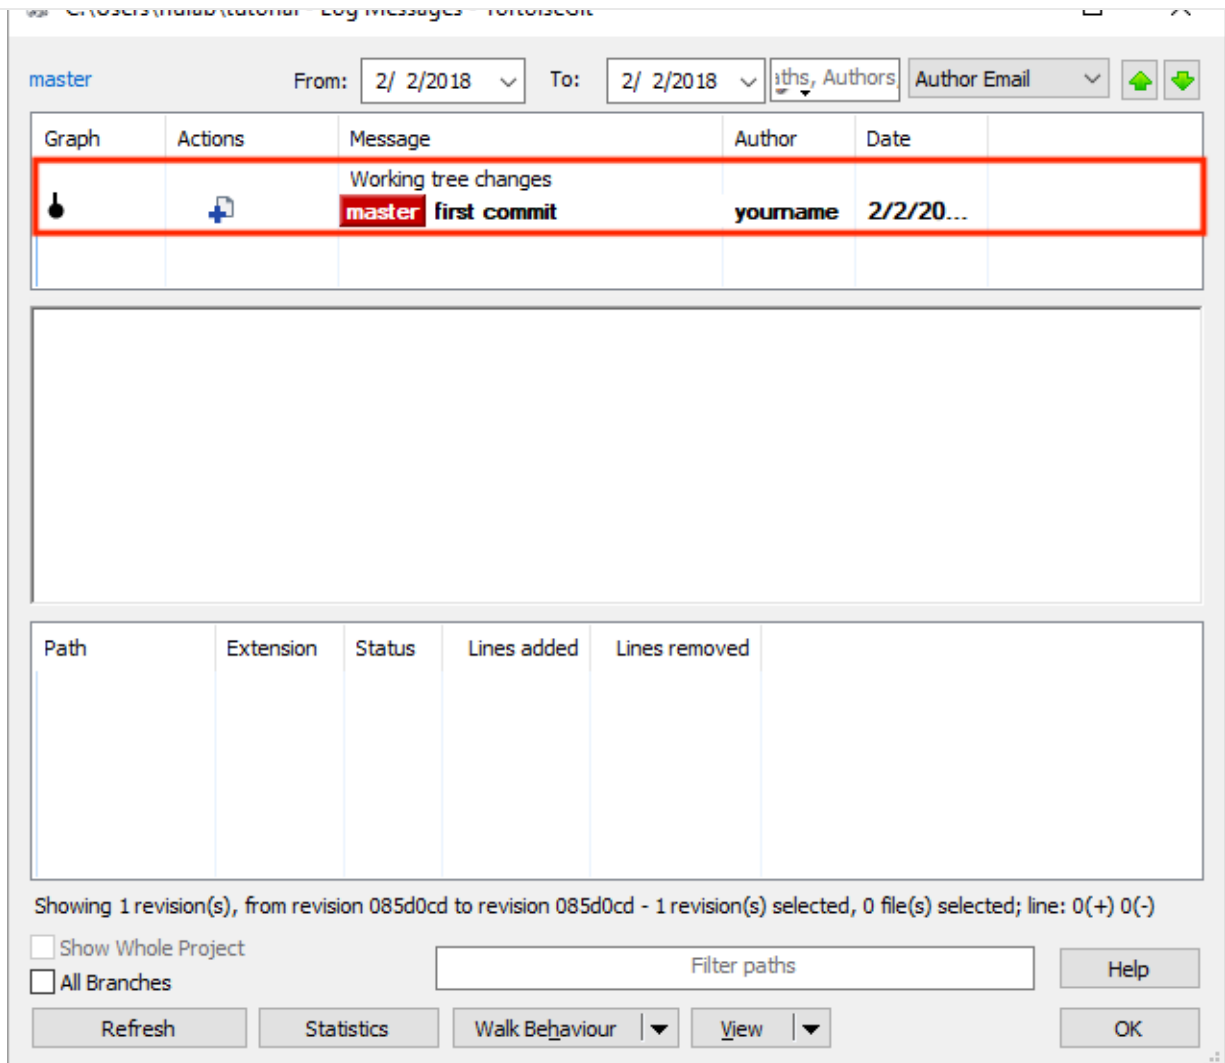

Git Tutorial

The following progress bar screen will be displayed. If it's all good, click "Close" to finish.

Git Tutorial

The screenshot displays the Git log interface in Backlog. At the top, there are filters for the branch (master), date range (From: 2/ 2/2018, To: 2/ 2/2018), and author (iths, Authors). Below these filters is a table of commit messages. The first commit is highlighted with a red box. The table has columns for Graph, Actions, Message, Author, and Date. The first commit message is "Working tree changes" with a red box around the word "master" and "first commit". The author is "youname" and the date is "2/2/20...". Below the table is a large empty box. At the bottom, there is a section for file changes with columns for Path, Extension, Status, Lines added, and Lines removed. Below this section, there is a status bar showing "Showing 1 revision(s), from revision 085d0cd to revision 085d0cd - 1 revision(s) selected, 0 file(s) selected; line: 0(+), 0(-)". There are also checkboxes for "Show Whole Project" and "All Branches", a "Filter paths" input field, and buttons for "Refresh", "Statistics", "Walk Behaviour", "View", "Help", and "OK".

Graph	Actions	Message	Author	Date
		Working tree changes master first commit	youname	2/2/20...
